

National Sailing Center & Hall of Fame Education Initiatives

The National Sailing Center & Hall of Fame (NSHOF) is working to bring together educators from across the country to provide a means to share resources and use our website to provide virtual displays for learners of all ages.

Locally, we are organizing pilot programs to provide an "education incubator" so that we can assist others in replicating these programs in their communities. Please contact us with your questions and ideas.

LATEST NEWS:

134 Anne Arundel County STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering & Math) students participate in "STEM Sails 2011" - Click here to watch the video .

2011

In October, NSHOF hosted the 2nd Annual Learning Math & Science Through Sailing Consortium Workshop at the U.S. Naval Academy's Robert Crown Sailing Center. Several

In January, our Education Director presented a workshop at US Sailing's National Sailing Programs Symposium.

We will present another workshop on partnering with public schools to promote sailing and the maritime industry.

In February, NSHOF held a Marine and Maritime Career Fair for area middle and high school students

Beginning in March, the second 9th grade STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics)

Two AACPS STEM Sailing Summer Bridge camps will be taught by NSHOF staff, one for novice sailors

New programs to engage students from the Stanton Center and the Annapolis High School's Sojourner

2010

Planning began for a Marine and Maritime Careers Fair in partnership with the Anne Arundel Public Sch

In September NSHOF taught an eight week PBL class, "Finding Your Way on Land and Water," to all so

NSHOF taught a two week STEM Summer Bridge Program in July to entering 10th and 11th grade stud

In May youngsters from the Stanton Center enjoyed a unique learning excursion on SULTANA from the

In May students from both Sojourner Douglass Middle College program and the Center for Applied Tech

Initial activities with curricular material and students began in April 2010 with a six week STEM (Science

In January, 2010 the National Sailing Center & Hall of Fame initiated a partnership with Anne Arundel C

One of the highlights of the NSHOF Sailing Center and the NSHOF Education Program is the use of the

NSHOF EDUCATION PARTNERS

CLICK HERE FOR OUR CURRENT SPONSOR LIST ...the development of a strong education program at NSHOF would not be possible without our Education Partners. Thank you!

We welcome new Education Partners. Please contact us to discuss the possibilities.